Hi All- I am in need of some help. I just purchased a 1987 Bretta that has a Volvo Penta 275 AQ131A engine. The water pump was leaking onto the belt so I just replaced the water pump. After I put everything back together, I put the muffers on the lower unit and started the engine. I noticed there was no water coming out of the exhaust. Any ideas why this is happening?

"I recently purchased a Glasstream with a 1987 AQ131A and will need to winterize it at the end of the season. i would appreciate any help that I can get. I know that you have to drain the fresh water system. Is removing the pump cover and impeller enough to drain the engine block? Are there any other engine block drains on the AQ131A that need to be opened?
